AT THE COUNTER

Made for the way you sell

Bill a first consultation, a 45-minute acupuncture session or a wet cupping (hijama) session at the front desk with the patient's name, the practitioner and the next session on the line. Sell five- and ten-session packages, follow each one on the Treatment plans board until the last session, and keep your needles, cups and moxa purchases and every practitioner's licence in the same system.

Consultations and assessment

First and follow-up consultations, pulse and tongue assessment and home visits, each billed to the patient by name.

Acupuncture by the session

45 and 60-minute sessions, electro, ear and laser acupuncture, facial acupuncture and dry needling, with the practitioner and next session on the line.

Cupping and hijama

Wet, dry, fire and sliding cupping as their own services, so you see how much each brings in.

Session packages

Five and ten-session packages, hijama packages and monthly wellness plans, with the first session and end date on the invoice.

Treatment plans board

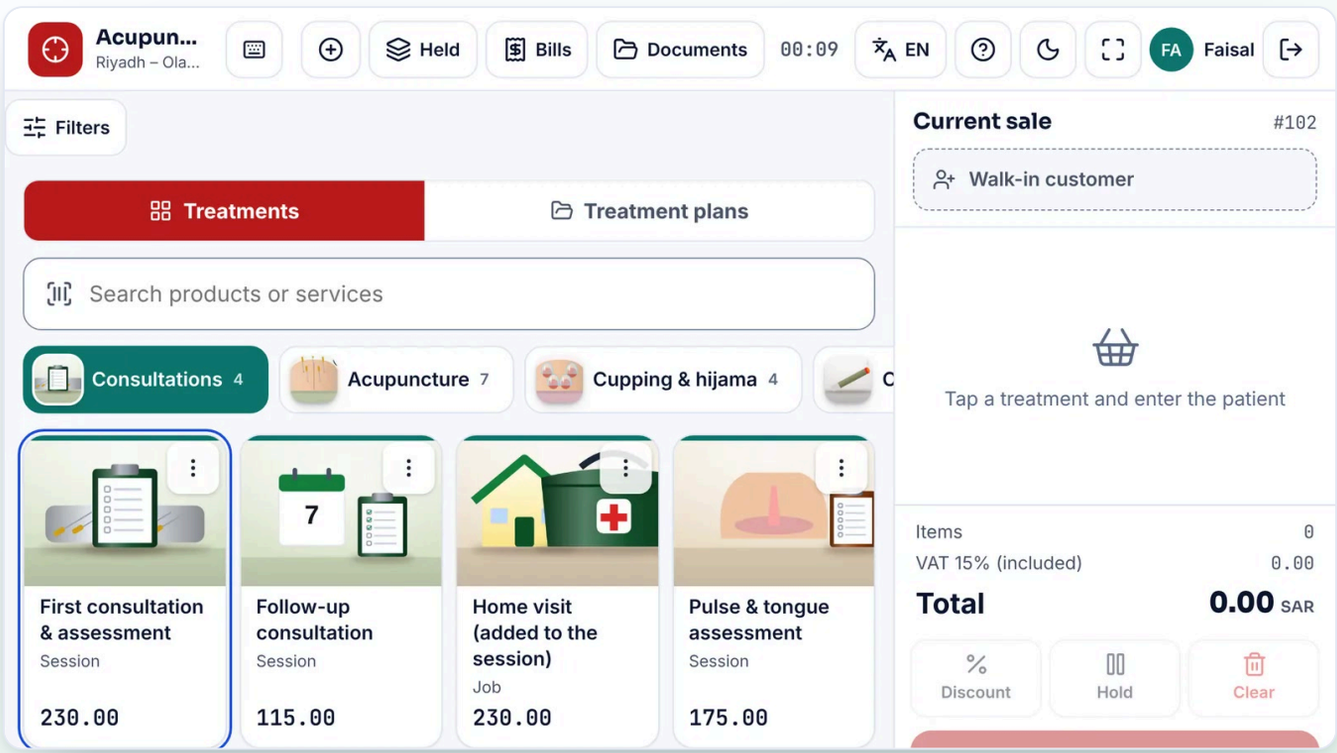

Every paid package moves from sold to in treatment, all sessions done and closed, so no patient's remaining sessions are forgotten.

No diagnosis on the invoice

Only the patient, practitioner and session dates are printed; nothing about the patient's condition goes on the invoice.

Ideal for

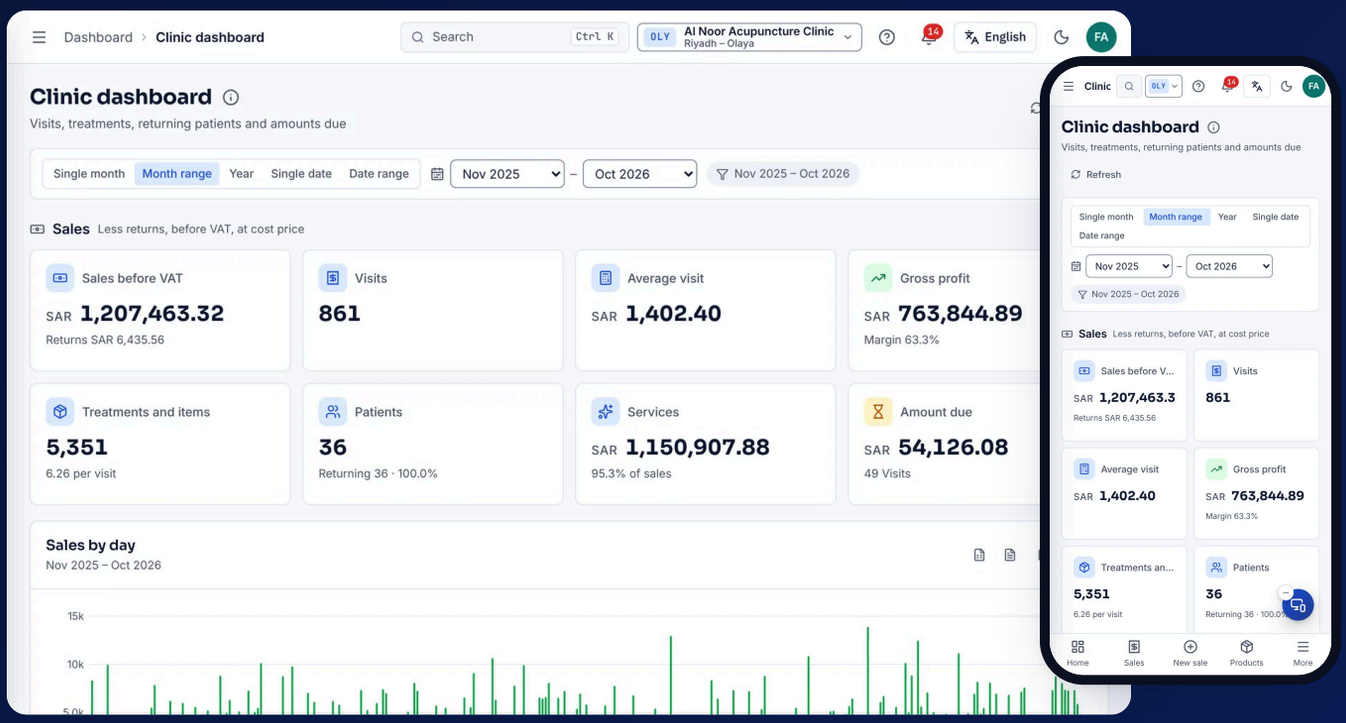

- Acupuncture clinics
- Hijama and cupping centres
- Traditional and complementary medicine centres
- Physiotherapy and wellness centres offering dry needling

Questions owners ask

Can I sell a package of sessions and follow what is left?
Yes. Sell the package with the first session date; it opens on the Treatment plans board and moves on to all sessions done and closed.

Does the invoice show the patient's condition?
No. The invoice line carries the patient's name, the practitioner and the next session only.
