AT THE COUNTER

Made for the way you sell

Tap a 5-gallon refill, type the full bottles handed over and the empties brought back, and the counter adds a deposit for each bottle that did not come back. Each customer has a delivery account with the round, the days, the bottles per visit, the bottles out with them and the deposit held; coupon books are sold and counted down at every stop, the van trip records what was loaded, delivered, collected and brought back, and the delivery board shows who is due today and still not visited.

Empties and bottle deposits

A refill swaps an empty for a full bottle; each bottle not returned adds the deposit, and every customer's bottles out and deposit held are kept.

Coupon books

Sell books of 10, 30 or 60 refills; the drivers collect a coupon at each stop and the board names the customers who need a new book.

Rounds and delivery days

Each customer is on a round with delivery days and bottles per visit; the board lists who is due today and who is still not visited.

Van trips

Full bottles loaded, each stop's bottles delivered, empties, coupons and cash, the bottles brought back and the bottles missing from the van.

Dispensers and rent

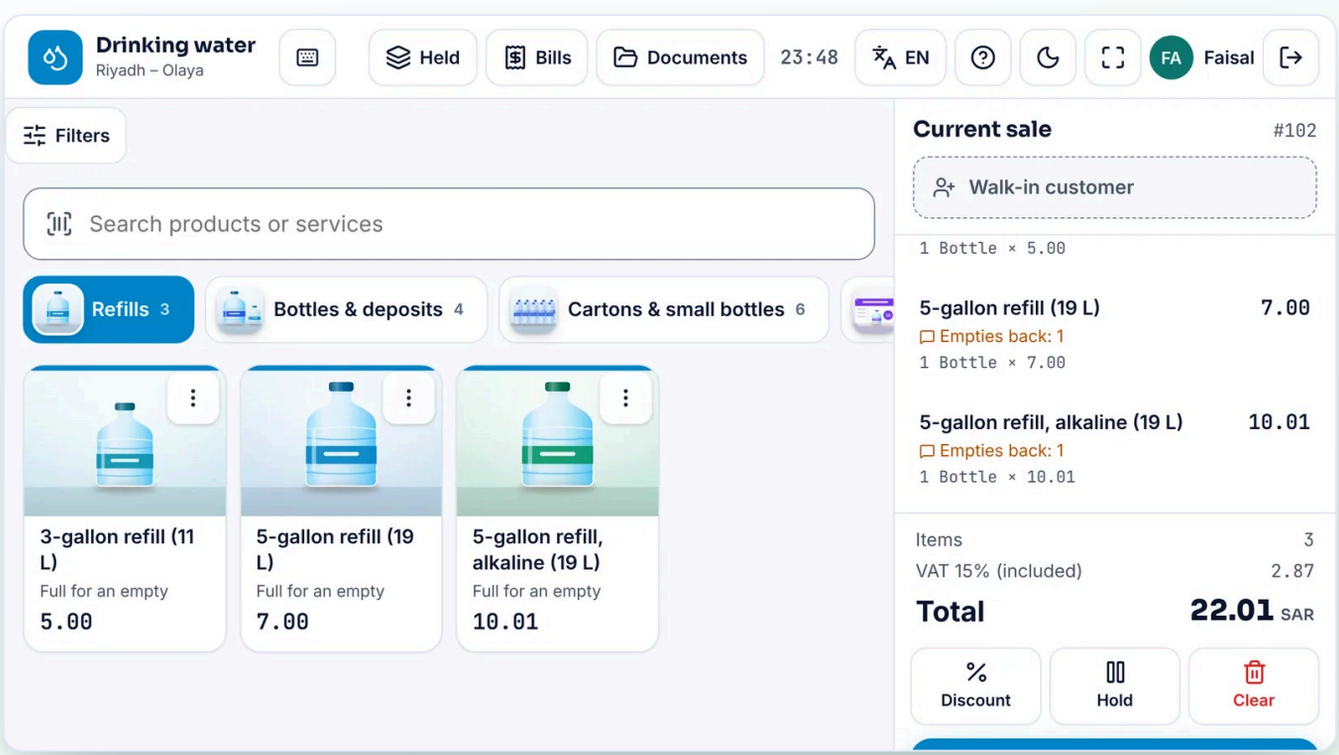

Sell hot and cold dispensers, pumps and stands, or rent them by the month with cleaning and installation as services.

Water delivery dashboard

Refills, bottles, cartons and coupon books by tab, rent and services against goods, the busy hours and the customers who order again.

Ideal for

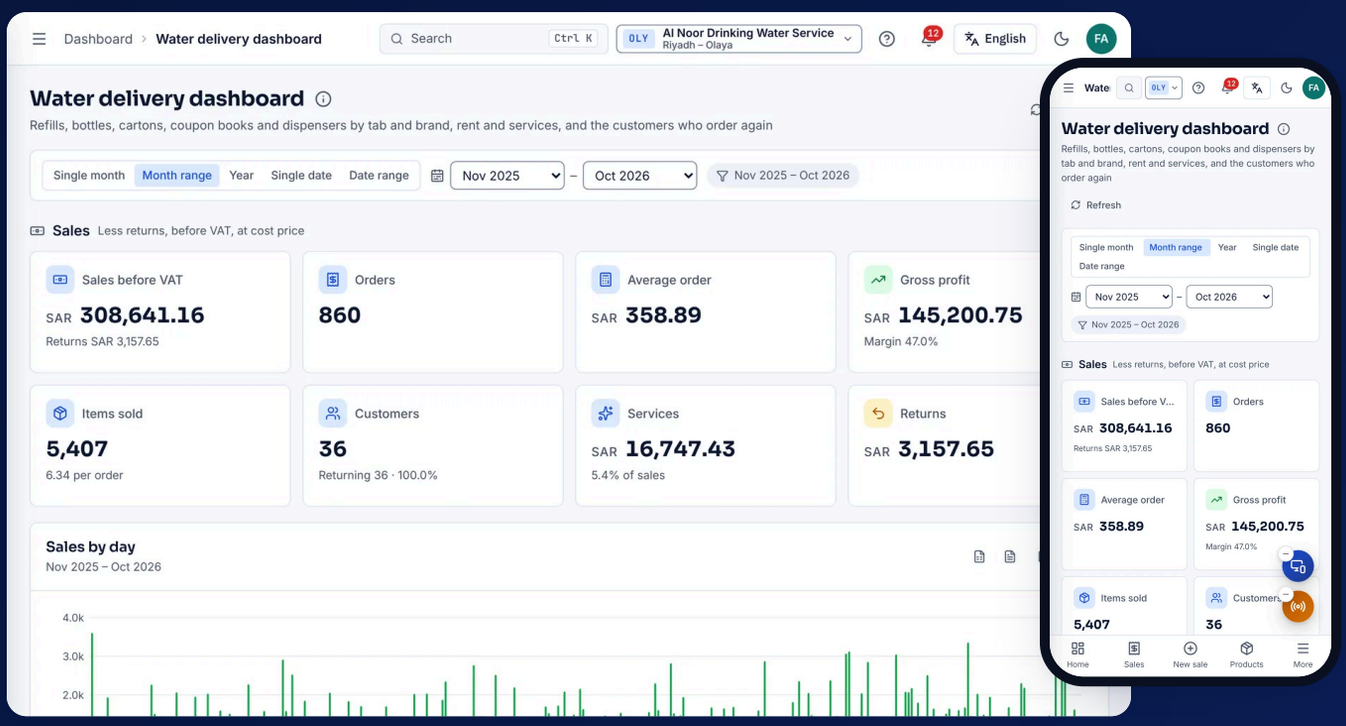

- Bottled water and gallon delivery companies
- Water filling stations and plants
- Office and home water subscriptions

Questions owners ask

How are empty bottles and deposits tracked?
At the counter a refill notes the empties brought back and charges the bottle deposit for each one not returned. With the Water delivery add-on each customer's account keeps the bottles out with them and the deposit held, updated by every van trip.

Can drivers take coupons instead of cash?
Yes. Sell coupon books at the counter and record the book on the customer; each trip stop records the coupons taken, so the coupons left are always known and StartAI Radio names the customers who need a new book.
