AT THE COUNTER

Made for the way you sell

Set the gold rate each morning and every tagged piece prices itself: net weight times today's rate for its karat, plus wastage, making charges and stones. Take old gold in exchange by weight and purity, book custom orders and repairs with an advance, run monthly gold savings schemes, and print every sale as a ZATCA e-invoice with the weight breakdown.

Gold rate of the day

Enter today's rate per gram for 24K, 22K, 21K and 18K gold and silver; missing karats are worked out from the purest rate, and the last 60 days stay on record.

Priced by weight

Each piece carries its gross and stone weight, wastage, making charges per gram, as a percent or fixed, and stone value, so the price follows the rate.

Old gold exchange and buy-back

Weigh old gold, take off stones and the melting loss, value it at the buying rate and use it on the new bill or pay cash, with a numbered voucher.

Hallmark, HUID and certificates

Hallmark, HUID and diamond certificate numbers are kept on each piece and printed on the bill; scan a tag to sell it.

Custom orders and repairs

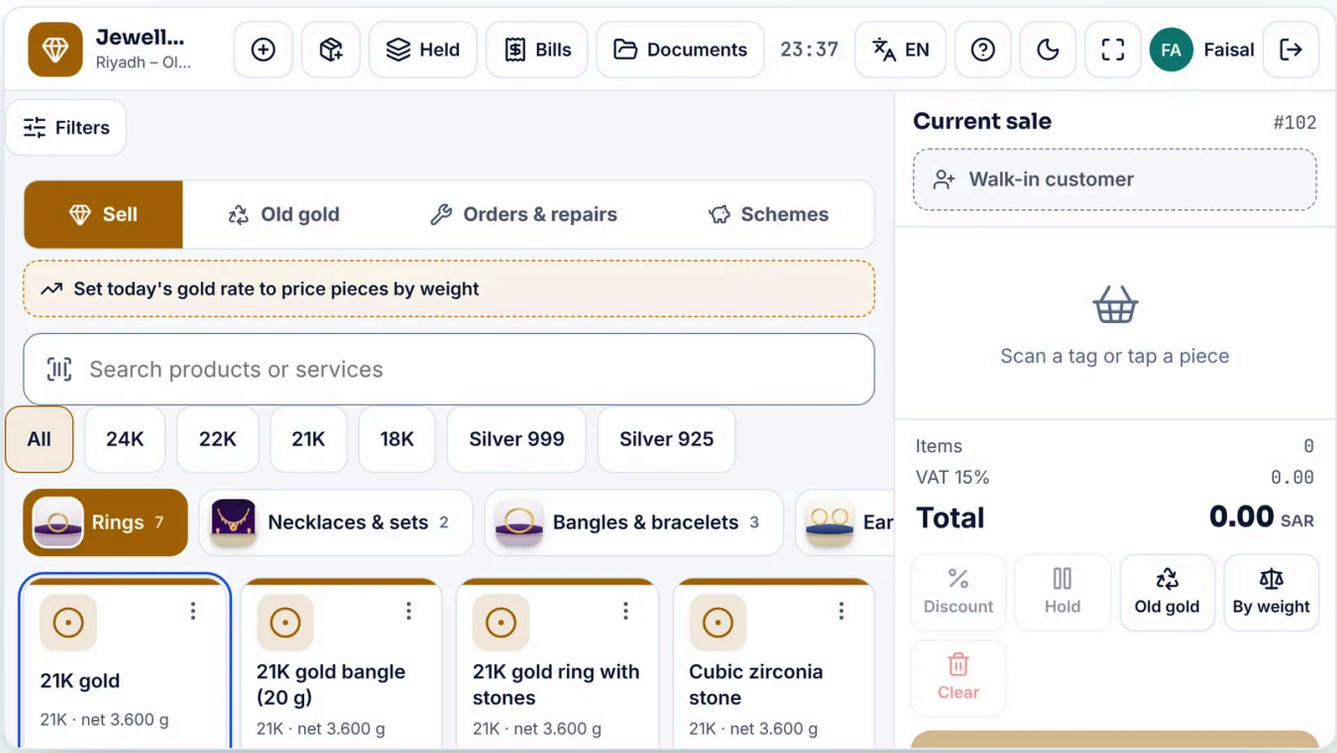

Book an order with an advance and optionally lock today's rate, take repairs by weight received, and follow every job from received to delivered.

Gold savings schemes

Customers pay a monthly instalment, the shop adds a bonus at the end, and the savings are redeemed against jewellery.

Ideal for

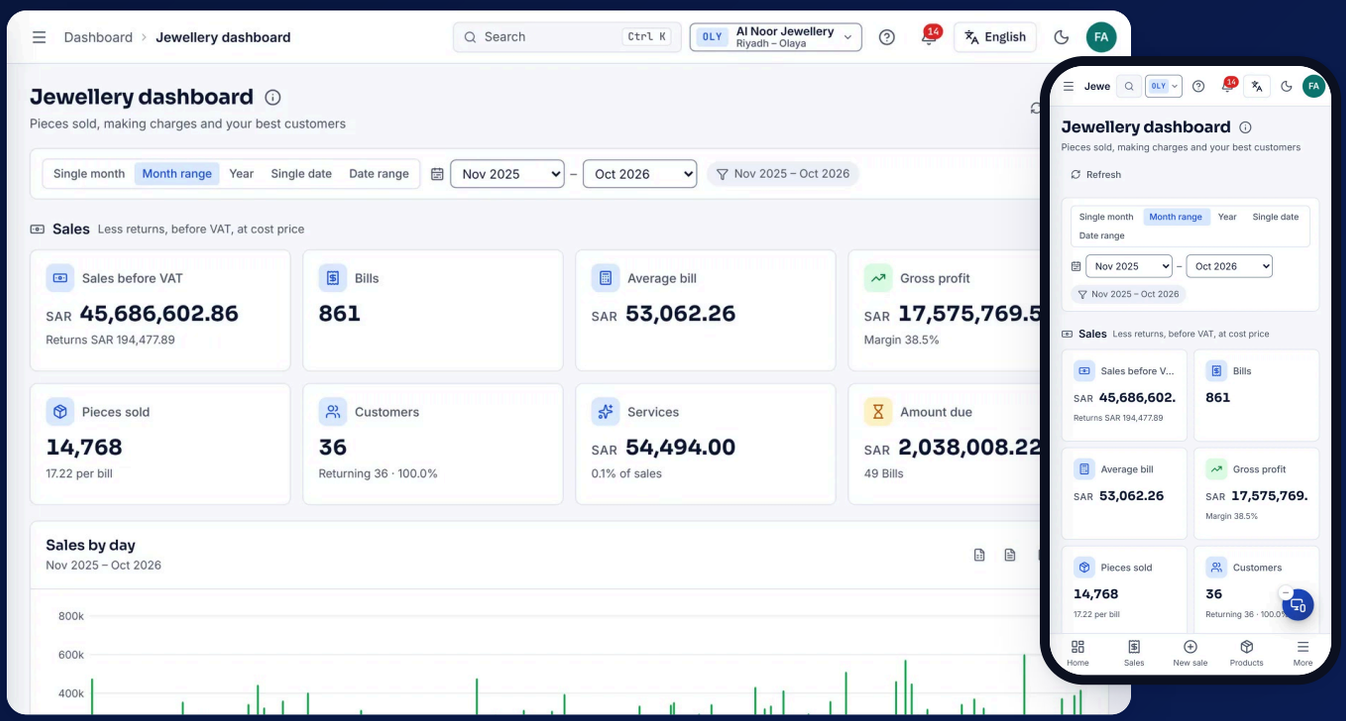

- Gold and diamond jewellery shops
- Gold souq traders
- Silver and gift jewellery stores
- Jewellery repair and custom-order workshops

Questions owners ask

Do prices change when the gold rate changes?
Yes. Pieces priced by weight are priced at the rate you set that morning for their karat, so you never re-tag the shop when gold moves.

How is old gold exchanged?
Weigh it, choose its karat, take off stones and the melting loss and it is valued at the buying rate. It comes off the new bill and is recorded as a purchase of old gold.
